Reduction in Steel price by SAIL

3942. SHRI KRISHNA KUMAR BIRLA: Will the Minister of STEEL be pleased to state:

(a) whether the Steel Authority of India Limited have decided to reduce the prices of steel to bring it in line with the prevailing international market;

(b) if so, whether the prices of steel in the international market is far below than the prices of steel in the country;

(c) if so, what steps Government propose to take to bring down the prices of steel in the country?

THE MINISTER OF STATE OF THE MINISTRY OF STEEL (SHRI SANTOSH MOHAN DEV): (a) No, Sir.

(b) In the International market, the prices of various categories of steel fluctuate from time to time depending on the International Trade in steel. The export prices of steel from countries like Japan, Germany and Brazil are much lower than their own internal market prices. Therefore, a comparision of the domestic prices of Indian Steel with the International prices will not be appropriate. However, the production cost of steel in SAIL Steel Plants exclusive of duties and levies is still comparable to the cost of production of steel in Japan, Germany and USA.

(c) After de-regulation of prices and distribution of Iran and Steel w.e.f. 16.1.1992 the main producers are free to determine their prices, However, open market prices of steel vary from time to time and place to place due to various factors including local demand-supply situation, overall steel demand-supply position in the country, prices of steel in international market and levels of import.

During the last three months the open market prices of different steel items have shown a general decline. On an average, while the open market prices of long products like billets, wire rods, rounds, channels and tor-steel have shown a decline of 2% to 8%, those of flat products like plates, HR coils, GP/GC sheets have shown a decline of 1% to 6%.

(c) if so, the reaction of Government in this regard?
